

Tropical Cyclogenesis: Processes and Predictability

Why do some African Easterly Waves develop into tropical cyclones whereas others don't? What are the pathways to formation, and to what extent are these mechanisms predictable? Via the use of observations, reanalysis data and ensemble forecasts, this Ph.D. project (collaborative with SUNY Albany) to begin in 2021 will aim to address these questions.

